

Guarding Events Nationally

It was 380 years ago today that the Massachusetts General Court required all able-bodied men between sixteen and sixty join the militia. The three units created still exist today in one form or another, thus December 13, 1636 is considered the birthday of the National Guard. Guard units around the country have and will be celebrating with parades and concerts. Big "I" Markets offers Event Liability insurance that can cover just about all of these events, including parades, concerts and parties, all of them of any size, even those with fireworks*.

Event Liability doesn't mean just parades and music, but refers to weddings, festivals, parties, conferences, and lectures, just to name a few.

Does the event continue overnight and include camping? No problem. Afraid the event might be too large to find coverage? There is NO LIMIT on event size so you don't have to turn anyone away.

Coverage can be placed for the individual or entity hosting the event quickly. For those providing services to events, such as DJ, caterers, florists, and photographers, we have a product as well. Vendors can secure coverage on a short term or annual basis.

Public liability for single day, short term, and annual policies is available. In addition to GL, HNOA liability, umbrella and liquor liability can be offered. One day events generally can be quoted in a single business day. Let us help you cover:
