

On The Subject of the Two for Tuesday Archive

An archive is an accumulation of historical records or the physical place they are located.

The computer version of an archive involves either compressing an individual file or combining multiple files into one making them use less disc space. This also means opening the specific file will take longer.

The National Archives in our nation's capital actually contains both types; physical documents and computer files. Most of the most important American documents are stored there including the Declaration of Independence, Constitution, and The Bill of Rights.

Seeing how faded these three founding documents are really emphasizes the need to preserve them.

While not anywhere nearly as valuable, the yearly Two for Tuesday Archive is still important as it is organized by subject. Compare it to the archive listings under BIM or the Archive link at the bottom of every Two for Tuesday. Those are organized by publication date.
